street children

Their plight.

More than 100 million children around the world struggle to survive alone on the streets. Orphaned, disabled, abandoned, or fleeing abusive caretakers, they have nowhere to turn. They regularly go without adequate food, shelter, and medical care, and may be exploited, lured into drug use, or even beaten and killed.

Your assistance.

You'll help fund World Vision's efforts to help these precious children experience new life. Our drop-in centers offer essentials such as nutritious food, shelter, medical treatment, educational opportunities, and adult nurture in a safe environment. Recognizing that family is the best place for children to grow, we work to reunite them with family members or place them in loving foster homes whenever possible.

Their plight.

The innocence of hundreds of thousands of girls and boys—some as young as 5—is stolen through the sex trade. Abducted, tricked through the promise of a good job, exploited because of disabilities, or even sold by their own parents, these children suffer exposure to AIDS, beatings, deprivation, and other abuse by those who enslave them.

Your assistance.

Your support will help World Vision offer safe, loving environments where sexually abused children can recover emotionally and lay the foundations they need for a new life filled with hope and promise. Our recovery centers offer medical treatment and counseling to help overcome their physical and emotional trauma. And we equip them for hopeful futures by offering vocational and skills training and educational opportunities.

orphans and vulnerable children

orphans and vulnerable children

Their plight.

Every 15 seconds another child becomes an orphan, having lost one or both parents to HIV/AIDS. Children's lives are unraveling as parents, teachers, doctors, and other community leaders succumb to AIDS. Children are caring for children. Others must depend on ailing grandparents. Sadly, they have little to hope for beyond daily survival.

Your assistance.

With your support, local churches and community networks of caring adults will be equipped with training and resources to make home care visits to orphans and widows affected by HIV/AIDS. Health care, education, and basic necessities will no longer be out of reach for these suffering children. And they'll learn the values, life-skills, and HIV-prevention information they need—all based on solid biblical principles—to grow into healthy, strong community leaders.

“Go out quickly into the streets and alleys . . . and bring in the poor, the crippled, the blind, and the lame.”

— Luke 14:21 (NIV)

This is an opportunity for you to help improve the lives of hundreds of children in the years ahead.

Thank you!
